LITTLE BOY MEETS AN AWFUL FATE.

Eight-Year-Old Kenneth Andrus Crushed to Death.

WAS CAUGHT UNDER A LOG.

His Young Life Dispatched Instantly by the Fracturing of the Skull-Parents Were Away from Home.

Little eight-year-old Kenneth Andrus, whose parents live at 352 south State stree,t was killed yesterday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock. He was playing on a pile of logs in the rear of his home, when one of the heavy timbers rolled down on him and crushed him to death, almost instantly. When he was picked up it was seen that the base of his skull was badly fractured, and the heavy pressure against his chest must have caused an internal derangement that would have resulted in death, had his head not been touched. His little four-year-old sister, Nevada was playing with him, and she also sustained a badly bruised foot, by a og rolling upon it. The attention of Mark Jeffs, an employe, and A. Elen worth, who was passing, was attracted by the screams of the little girl, who was pinned to the ground. As soon as the little girl was released, the limp body of Kenneth was picked up and carried into the house.

The mother was away washing for means to help keep her little ones, and when she returned she was nearly beside herself with grief.
The matter of a livelihood has always been a struggle with the Andrus family, and the poor mother bewailed the hard ot that forced her from her home when she couldn't protect her children from harm. Drs. Fischer and Beer were summoned but their mission was the little life had passed out long before they got to the bedside. Kenneth had been a delicate boy but lately he had been improving in health and strength, and the other day he manfully declared that he was go-ing out to get work, so that his mother would not have to go away from

THE SECOND BUILDING.

Barratt Hall, New Latter-day Saints' College Structure, to be Erected.

The general plan for the Samuel M. Barratt memorial building for the Latter-day Saints' College, has been approved by Mrs. Barratt; and the architect, Mr. D. C. Young, is now engaged in making the plans and in drawing up the specifications.

The new building will stand in the angle, facing northwest, just south of the Business College. This building will be of the same size as the business college, but will be nearly square, and will have the gallery in the second story instead of a third floor, as in the business college.

The main floor will be used as an as-sembly and study room, and will contain enough book-case alcoves to hold the working library; that is, the books most frequently consulted for reference in the different departments. room will contain a stage, and also the gallery above mentioned, and is in-tended to seat about 900 people.

The lower floor may be used as class rooms or for other purposes; but the primary object will be to make of the assembly hall proper a model auditorium, large enough for good-sized meet-ings and for all school gatherings. Bids will be let for the construction of this hall just as soon as the plans are far enough advanced to permit the contractors to give in their estimates. Bishop Geo. Romney is chairman of the building committee.

The present assembly hall in the business college will be converted into the banking and higher accounting department, as soon as the new hall is ready, It is thought that the new hall will be completed before the end of the sum-

Refuse to Send Delegate to National Convention-Shirt Waist Proposition.

The Salt Lake mail carriers held their regular monthly meeting last night. The session proved fruitful of plenty to talk about. The matter of sending a delegate to the National Mail Carriers' association at Chattanooga, on Labor day, was abandoned, the reason advanced being that only the delegates from the first class offices would have any put in, and they didn't propose to be buried at the convention by the fellows from New York, Chi-cago, Philadelphia and the other great cities. The question of the shirt waist was informally discussed for a short It is optional with the carriers whether or not they wear this unique feature of masculine attire, but it is thought that some of the force will wear them, and if they prove satisfac-tory the rest of the force may adopt The only requirement is that the shirt waists be uniform.
